He used injections of neutralizing cordial, tinct. opium, and tinct. prickly ash berries. He was fully convinced of the necessity of getting up a copious perspiration. In typhoid cases he pursued an entirely different course. In these cases he first gave stimulants, and failed. He afterwards used mucilage of gura arabic, ice and ice water; he applied externally cloths dipped in ice water and with these applications suectLtled in bringing about reaction after failing with ordinary hot applications. Dr. W. also remarked that many cholera cases presented symptoms similar to those described in Woods practice, as belonging to pernicious fever. Dr. Chase stated that the general outlines of the treatment he had pursued resembled that of other Eclectic practitioners. In the early periods of the disease he had used the Leptandrin, combined with Neutralizing Extract very successfully. He thinks opium can be dispensed...
