In his church services there was an address to the congregation, singing and prayer, and spiritual proceedings, as described by St. Paul, generally at the close, when they were moved by the spirits to speak, to prophecy, to heal and to give utterance to foreign languages. Baptism by immersion was the custom--the last supper was regularly observed in Rome and Smyrna. Extracts were used chiefly from the genuine portion of St. Pauls Epistles--and from the gospel of the Hebrews. But the four gospels and Acts of the Apostles were unknown. The Christians in Rome knew nothing of the graves of St. Peter and St. Paul, or of any funeral when they died, attended by friends. Their remains received no more respect than common convicts. St. John was visited at Rome by the spirit of St. Paul, and at the time of the deaths of St. Peter and St. Paul he felt a mental shock but did not know its source. He saw the tall and gloomy prison of St. Paul at Rome. In his service of over fifteen years at Jerusalem, he had considerable success, and there were three congregations--but there was a great deal of opposition and bitter antagonism, as there is now to all new ideas. There was no actual conflict, but there were frequent disturbances from the influence of the old Jewish party. In the time of St. Johns service in Rome, the Epistles of St. Paul were in circulation,...
